FIND PETTIBONE "NOT GUILTY"

FOISF Jan 4—After four hours deliberation a verdict of not guilty was reached by the jury trying George A. Pettibone charged with the murder of his father, Frank Steenberg. The verdict was brought into court at 11 in the morning. No demonstration of any kind marked the reading of the verdict which made Pettibone a free man. After two years imprisonment awaiting trial the defendant paid and maintained because of his long illness, smiled as he heard of his freedom and a moment later was surrounded by his attorneys and friends.

At 10 o'clock this morning no word had come from the room in which the jury in the Pettibone case has been confined since 5 o'clock last night. Late last night Judge Wood ordered a rot sent to the jury room for Juror Stahl who was taken on all yesterday. Lunch was taken to the jurors at midnight and breakfast this morning.

KANSAS CITY Jan 4—John Mitchell president of the United Mine Workers of America who is at Excelsior Springs Mo taking the waters talked over the long distance telephone of the Pettibone verdict. Mitchell said:

I fully expected the verdict of not guilty. I cannot see how it could have been possible to have convicted Mr. Pettibone upon the evidence of Harry Orchard.

At 10 o'clock this morning no word had

G. A. PETTIBONE.

CHARGE OF MURDER FILED AGAINST MIDWIFE

Dead Girl's Father Accuses Woman of Slaying Daughter.

(Special to The Tribune)

SAN FRANCISCO Jan 4—Mrs. Wilhelmina Wegener who is accused by George Beckett of being responsible for the death of Edna Needham on New Year's eve was formally charged with murder at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The warrant was sworn to by J. B. Needham father of the girl who hurried to police headquarters this morning as soon as he heard that Beckett had surrendered himself. The warrant was sworn out before Police Judge Cabaniss and served on Mrs. Wegener in her cell in the city prison.

When the woman was brought to the booking sergeant and informed that she was charged with murder she burst into hysterics loudly protesting that she was innocent. She gave her occupation as a nurse and her age as 30 years.

SAV HAVE GOOD CASE

Captain of Detectives Kelly refused to state whether he had secured any additional evidence against the woman other than that furnished by Beckett but Detectives James Gallagher and W. D. Molice hinted that they have a good case against the defendant.

It has been decided to hold Beckett at least until after the inquest and it is possible that a charge of some sort will be placed against him. The lad was again taken before Captain Kelly this morning and put through a sweating process, after which the detectives present seemed unusually pleased over the general situation and it is thought that some important information was secured from him.

Beckett was in consultation some time this morning with his attorney W. W. Sanderson. Thus far Mrs. Wegener has not secured an attorney but it is thought that she will retain ex. Judge Fernal.

Young Beckett says that since Tuesday night he has been walking the streets without sleep or rest. His face was wan and haggard and he appeared on the verge of a nervous breakdown. He was locked up in a detaine cell at the city prison last night after making a full confession to Captain Kelly. Detectives Kelly asked as to who had performed the operation on the Needham girl which proved fatal he said:

ACCUSES WOMAN

Mrs. Wegener proprietor of the private hospital on Polson street took Miss Needham to the home conducted by Doctor Wegener on Friday night. I did not know that any operation was to be performed and I was not present when it took place.

According to Beckett's story he first met the girl at the Mechanics pavilion skating rink on Washington's birthday 1906. After the fire went to his home in Quincy Ill but returned to San Francisco in September of that year. He says he became engaged to the girl Christmas day 1906 and gave her a signed ring. When she returned to him shortly after he said:

DENIES CHARGES

Mrs. Wegener at the city prison entered a general denial of the story told by Beckett. She stated that she had never operated on Edna Needham. She claimed that the girl was brought to her on 212 Polson street early Sunday evening, contradicting the story told by Beckett that the girl had gone to Mrs. Wegener's place on Friday. Mrs. Wegener said:

MUNCIE Ind Jan 4—Twelve companies of infantry and one battery and accompanying hospital and signal corps of the Indiana National Guard are gathering here under orders from Governor Hanly to maintain peace during the strike of the employees of the street railway. Cars began running on regular schedule this morning and there has been no disturbance.

MINERS RETURN TO WORK; SAY STRIKE IS BROKEN

Federation Men Declared to Be Deserting Their Union.

GOLDFIELD, Jan. 4.—From appearances today it would seem that the backbone of the strike is about broken and that all mines will be in full operation possibly within ten days. The hills are full of miners applying for work, and they are deserting the Western Federation by the scores. They say they are tired waiting on the federation and can see no successful end to their fight and apply for work before their places are taken by imported miners. Mine owners are employing former federation men along with the new importations.

After a period of idleness extending over some five weeks work on company account on the Combination Fraction resumed with this morning's shift. The operators declare three shifts are ready to proceed. Most of them were former members of the Western Federation of Miners. The Moink proper also resumed work this morning with full shifts, some of the men being members of the local union and others new arrivals from California and Utah. The Mohawk will continue with its main shift, as well as with breaking down ore.

Two leases on a large ground resumed work yesterday. They are run by A. Becker, who announces that there will be no let-up. The leases are employing new men. Work has also been resumed on the Von Polenz lease on the Florence, full shifts being at work. It is said that the lessees have a lot work the old men who resumed operations, rather than stand the waiting game necessitated by running with the Western Federation.

SOLDERS LEAVE.

Seven companies of soldiers, accompanied by as many officers, including Colonel Reynolds, left Goldfield by special train, bound for their respective California posts. The train will be divided at Sacramento, from which point four companies will be taken to Fort McDowell, while the balance will make the trip via of Stockton and San Jose to the military headquarters at Monterey.

The detachment remaining in camp and numbering about 135 men is assigned to the pick of the regiment, and has been joined by two full companies. Capt. H. Captain William H. Wassall will be in command of Comp. I, while Lieutenant Goodell will command Comp. H. Lieutenant Pierce will be connected with Company I, and a captain to Company II will be Lieutenant Cameron. Dr. Wilson will continue to serve as medical attendant, while Lieutenant Tomlinson will act as quartermaster.

not operate upon Miss Needham. I did not at any time think that she was in danger of death. I cannot understand why the young man could have told the story that he did. He called after Sunday evening to inquire about Miss Needham, the last visit that he made being at 11 o'clock New Year's eve. I did not see him after that.

Beckett is a man appearing youth, with handsome features of the small type, and of slight build. He was dressed in a slightly worn suit. He talked in a pleasant voice and was reticent when discussing his own affairs. He said, however, that his father, now dead, had been a country brewer in Kansas, and that his mother and two married sisters lived in Quincy, Ill., as has already been published.

Beckett denies that he has been out of the city since the time of the girl's death. He would not say where he had spent his time, but stated that he was about Fillmore street, and that he did not have "an address." When asked if he had seen the brothers of the Needham girl since the tragedy he said he had not, but added that he had read that they intended to kill him.

VARSITY PARTY MAY HAVE OBSERVED TOTAL ECLIPSE

BERKELEY, Jan. 4.—The department of astronomy in the University of California is anxiously awaiting dispatches from the expedition of savants who went to Tahiti on the steamer Maipoa last November. Provided there was no hitch in the plans, the total eclipse of the sun which occurred yesterday at 11:15 local time, was observed by this party who went on board the Mariposa, from Flint Island, 400 miles northwest of Tahiti.

Professor E. F. Gray Lewis of the University of California accompanied the party by special invitation of Director Campbell of the Lick Observatory.

The purpose of the expedition was to study certain phenomena of the sun's atmosphere, of the solar corona, and of the air surrounding the sun, which cannot be present known means to be investigated except during times of total eclipses.

FAIRBANKS AND CANNON IN PACT

Double Jointed Presidential Boom Keeps Taft Managers in Flurry.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The double jointed boom for President of Vice-President Fairbanks and "Uncle Joe" Cannon is giving the Taft managers not a little concern. The relations of the Vice-President's candidate and the speakers cannot present all the appearance of normal and first alliance offensive and defensive, and while the Taft leaders believe they can accomplish if they are very astute, they are afraid it will not be so.

It is the understanding among the politicians here that the Fairbanks managers are preparing, in case they see that their candidate is not nominated to give the Taft speakers no little trouble, and on the other hand, the speakers and his lieutenant's are prepared to do the Vice-President the same good turn in case it should turn out that the Fairbanks will not be elected to the convention.

The Indiana men who are the closest to the Vice-President are on extremely friendly terms with Taft, the particularly Senator Hoar and Senator and representative Watson. Both are supporters of the Vice-President and warm friends to the speakers, and Indiana may continue to throw their strength to Cannon.

Non-Union Men Take Places of Those Who Leave Box Factories.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—The efforts of five box factories in this city to bring about a reduction in the wages paid to boxmakers and lawyers yesterday brought about a general strike. The crews of non-union men were put to work. About 250 union men are believed to have joined the strike, and many will assume more serious proportions if the timbermen and other allied unions are called out in sympathy.

DEATH FURTHER TANGLES TRIAL

Eight-Year-Old Heiress Supposed to Have Inherited More Money.

The death of James Martin, an aged coal miner, of the town of Chetwood street, last night, makes a contest in the contest that is now being waged before Judge Harris as to the disposition of the guardianship of his granddaughter, 8-year-old Dolie Colbert. The control of an estate of $10,000 left the girl by her mother, Mrs. Annie Gomes, who possibly a much larger estate, which her grandfather is believed to have left in his will, is involved in this contest.

John F. Colbert, the child's father, and E. F. Porter, a real estate man, are the men to be opposing each other in court, each wanting to be his guardian. Porter was named guardian in Mrs. Gomes' will, but it was understood that he was acting for Martin, with whom Dolie Colbert has been living. Now that Martin is dead, Colbert's claim is strengthened.

CLAIMS WEDDING ILLEGAL

Colbert was divorced from his wife, who married Frank Cress. The father contends that this marriage was illegal, however, as no final decree of divorce had been granted.

Colbert has a large estate, consisting chiefly of real estate in Chetwood and Berkeley. In spite of his wealth he lived in great squalor. He refused to send for a physician because of the expense it entailed. Finally neighbors sent for a physician, who came and found the case was necessary, but he refused to engage one.

The guardianship matter will be heard in court on January 16. Dabert & Stiles represent Colbert in his attempt to get control of his daughter.

Depositors of the California Bank Discuss Institution's Affairs

ANXIOUS TO GET THEIR MONEY BACK

Consider Rehabilitation and the Question of Receivership; Several Lively Tiffs!

A meeting of the stockholders and depositors of the California bank was held last night in Settlement Hall, Kennedy and Denison streets, East Oakland, for the purpose of considering what it is best to do on the part of the depositors that they may be able, at the earliest moment, to get possession of the money which they have in the bank in question which is now in the hands of a committee of depositors and stockholders, who are aiming at its rehabilitation.

There were in the neighborhood of 400 persons present, and not a few of these were ladies, some of whom had stood for an hour in the rain waiting for the doors to open. There was a spirited discussion for nearly four hours. Sometimes feelings ran high and sometimes personalities were indulged in, but the gathering was brought to a peaceful close.

The rehabilitation plan offered by the bank's directors, to take 30 per cent in stock and 70 per cent cash, payments to extend over a period of two or three years, was considered.

SUPPORT THE AFFIRMATIVE.

In support of the affirmative speeches were made by William Rutherford, Attorney George D. Metcalf, J. P. Edoff, Mounchian Meese, Attorney W. R. Davis, E. Arlett. The leader of the negative was Attorney Gilbert Wyman, who had several stalwarts to back him and who made themselves heard during the course of the proceedings.

At length, after fifteen minutes before midnight, after the meeting had been in session for nearly four hours, a vote was taken on the proposition whether it was the sense of the meeting that the proposed agreement should be adopted, or another plan be submitted. The affirmative was sustained by a vote of 137 to 21. Many of the opponents of the scheme declared that the majority vote did not mean all that its supporters claimed for it.

When the meeting was called to order by William Rutherford, there were on the platform with him Messrs. J. P. Taylor, Attorney George D. Metcalf, Councilman Edwin Meese, Attorney W. R. Davis, E. Arlett and J. P. Edoff.

CALLS MEETING TO ORDER.

"In calling the meeting to order Mr. Rutherford said:

"In the absence of the president of the California Bank, who is unavoidably absent, I have been asked to call this meeting to order. Before calling upon any gentleman to speak, I wish to say that I am one of the earliest residents in this section of the city. Twenty-four years ago we proceeded to establish the cotton mills, near Twenty-third avenue, when it was little more than a pasture. We wished to see the city build up as it has since been built and it will continue to grow. Personally, I have never had a loan from the Bank of California. The bank, which was established here, was a convenience. If it was the right time, the money loaned would be gotten back, because it was paid out on good loans. The bank here has been established for four years. It accumulated $36,000. This bank never lost a dollar. The only bad feature was the clothing store which it had to take from the city. Now that has been charged against this bank."

SPEAKS AS DIRECTOR.

Speaking as a director of this bank, I want to see every depositor paid. There is nothing but talk about the stockholders shirking their duty. There is nothing of that kind. They have had the best experts to examine the books and they have been doing all in their power to put the bank again on its feet. Out of the 176 shares Mr. Collins owned 105 and about 30 other shares, were owned by others.

"Mr. Collins gave up all his property. He has not appropriated any property. Four of the gentlemen on the platform are depositors and two are stockholders. One of the former is the largest depositor in the bank, having there a representation of $30,000. Another has $25,000 there. These men are likely to look into the affairs. They represent over three thousand depositors."

Mr. Rutherford then read a list of parcels of property which he stated Mr. Collins had turned over to the bank. He then took up the names of the men who had served on the committee which had formulated the plan for the rehabilitation of the bank and among those were J. P. Edoff, George D. Metcalf and several others.

ATTORNEY METCALF SPEAKS.

Attorney Metcalf was next introduced to the gathering. He said that he had not been called in to offer advice until after the California Bank had gotten into trouble.

"As to Mr. Collins' management of the

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TRIBUNE: Allow me space enough to present a proposition to both stockholders and depositors of the California Bank.

The stockholders, several of them anyhow, have said that they were anxious and willing to pay their liability. My proposition is this: The stockholders to pay in cash, within a reasonable time, say ten days, the 30 per cent which is proposed to give to each depositor in stock. The depositors to accept the balance of 70 per cent on the terms now proposed in the circular given to the depositors.

In this way I am certain the depositors would get dollar for dollar, the stockholders would be doing the right thing and the bank could again be opened in very short order.

TWENTY-THIRDER.

"bank," he continued, "there is no one here apologizing for his acts. His acts will have to stand criticism. We are now confronting a condition, not a theory. The bank felt the pressure because it did not have the reserve. Mr. Collins did everything in his power to have the bank go ahead, but trouble came in Ventura. This year there happened to come a very unfortunate year in beans, their chief product. This bank could not realize from that source when it was due. The rehabilitation of the bank in Ventura has a very material relation to the bank here. If this bank here fails, that bank fails. But, if there can be realized on the assets in Ventura, it will mean INSISTED ON REORGANIZATION. "The directors finally insisted that Collins should resign, and that was three weeks ago. The stockholders were called together and a committee was formed. But the committee was too large and it was finally decided to establish an executive committee. On that committee were J. P. Taylor, City Engineer Turner, Fred Kahn, Mr. Arlett, J. P. Edoff, Mounchian Meese, Attorney W. R. Davis, E. Arlett. The leader of the negative was Attorney Gilbert Wyman, who had several stalwarts to back him and who made themselves heard during the course of the proceedings.

At length, after fifteen minutes before midnight, after the meeting had been in session for nearly four hours, a vote was taken on the proposition whether it was the sense of the meeting that the proposed agreement should be adopted, or another plan be submitted. The affirmative was sustained by a vote of 137 to 21. Many of the opponents of the scheme declared that the majority vote did not mean all that its supporters claimed for it.

When the meeting was called to order by William Rutherford, there were on the platform with him Messrs. J. P. Taylor, Attorney George D. Metcalf, Councilman Edwin Meese, Attorney W. R. Davis, E. Arlett and J. P. Edoff.

DEPOSITORS' MEETING.

"Then came a meeting of depositors and without a dissenting voice, they agreed that the plan submitted was the only way to rehabilitate the bank. The commercial depositors declined to appoint a committee of their own, and requested the committee to act with the directors.

"Nearly one-half of the depositors have already signed the agreement. We have consulted the bank commissioners. They have the right and, unless something be done soon, they will be required to report to the Attorney-General to have the usual course pursued.

AVOID RECEIVER, HE SAYS.

"If you can agree upon a reasonable, safe plan to protect your interests, by all means avoid the courts. That is my judgment. Further than this, by the appointment of a receiver, the creditors of the bank will come out of the small end of the horn. The expenses will eat up an immense amount of the principal. When is the end of a receivership? More than likely, ten years. There is a reasonable certainty that if the proposed plan is adopted you would receive 70 per cent cash and 3 per cent on the rest. This will be paid monthly. The stockholders are requested to take 30 per cent in stock. That will become merchantable.

The plan comprehends three ideas: First, that 90 per cent of the stockholders must turn over their stock, waiving all claims against the assets. Two hundred and fifty shares must be taken by depositors at $25,000. Depositors must accept in-kind bearing certificates. The first interest will be paid in five months. If the general business of the city should prosper, there is nothing to prevent a better showing being made. If that is the case, the interest would be paid earlier, because it would be a growing and paying bank."

MR. EDOFF MADE REPORT.

In introducing J. P. Edoff, Mr. Rutherford stated that the gentleman was not a stockholder in the bank, neither was he a depositor but he represented depositors in the concern. He was also a financier and a man who had been called in for the purpose of giving the rehabilitation committee the benefit of his experience. Mr. Edoff read a report showing the condition of the bank at the time the committee had made an examination of the securities, the substance of which has already been published in THE TRIBUNE.

"By careful nursing," said Mr. Edoff, "and no extra expenses, I have made up my mind that there were $82,000 of assets that are reasonably sure. If the indebtedness is $1,500,00, 70 per cent of one million dollars is $495,000. I figure in $20,000 with a great equity held. The plan proposed will give you $66,000. If you like it you can get 70 per cent. If you don't like it, it goes to a receiver. The Mutual and some other banks have been in the hands of a receiver for fifteen years and aren't out yet."

"This is a straight forward business statement. The bank can be pulled out, and the idea is to keep it out of the hands of receivers and placing it with the depositors. Let the depositors have their directors and let them run the bank so long as they run it for themselves. The directors and a few children held 70 shares. I doubt if there are very many shares that can be assessed."

One of the depositors said that the bank at Twenty-third avenue and East Fourteenth street and on Washington street had been closed for two months and that in the Twenty-third avenue branch there were five clerks doing nothing, at an expense of $300 a month, and there were men in the bank on Washington street, too. The men in either of the two banks knew nothing, the depositor said.

"They know something now," said Mr. Edoff, and the crowd laughed.

Mr. Edoff said that he was not a lawyer and would not discuss the ques-building on Twenty-third avenue which they own and save at least that amount of expense."

"We'll have the head office of the bank before long," said Rutherford in reply. "Everybody is not under pay at this time. There are some that we can't get along without."

"There is no necessity in keeping them," the woman rejoined.

HAVE NO STOCK NOW.

A loud voice in the rear of the hall cried out to Rutherford: "What have you done with your stock?"

"We have no stock now. The stockholders have parted with their stock. If this thing goes all right and well and good, if it doesn't—well, I own fifty shares and I shall have to pay my share of the liabilities," Rutherford replied.

"Will we have to sue you in order to have you pay?" shouted a voice in the back of the hall.

"That depends whether or not this goes through. If it does the stockholders will elect the board of directors."

"Do we assume liability for this stock which we are expected to take?" asked still another auditor.

"No," was the reply of Rutherford.

"Aren't you taking a big risk on the stock market?" inquired another depositor in a bantering tone of voice.

"I am just as willing to have it go into the hands of a receiver," said Rutherford. This statement produced a sensation in the hall.

A big man persisted in asking Rutherford to answer what was meant by turning all of Collins' property over to the bank.

Rutherford said all that property was now an asset of the bank.

"It is all mortgaged," cried a woman.

COUNCILMAN MEES' VIEW.

Councilman Meese said he was a depositor like the others and he knew of no other way to get his $25,000 out of the bank than the plan that had been decided upon.

"Did you know," asked Wyman, "when you were advising people to sign that agreement that they were signing a release of the stockholders?"

"I will say," said Meese, "that I felt that was the best way—better than trying to get it out of the pockets of stockholders."

"No, no," came in a chorus from all parts of the hall.

"Was not Mr. Collins a criminal?" asked Wyman.

"Mr. Collins was negligent. He was very negligent and I do not want to shield him, but before we determine the criminality let us get the bank open."

"Is it right?" inquired a small man, "to take a man's money one day and close the bank the next day?"

"No, no," came in a chorus from all parts of the hall.

A man in the gallery, who said he came here six months ago from another country and paid all his money in the California Bank, advised moderation. He had signed the agreement and advised all the depositors to do the same thing.

ATTORNEY DAVIS SPEAKS.

Attorney W. R. Davis was then introduced. He said:

"I wanted the joint committee to be so formed that any man would say it would do its duty well and honestly. It is a fact, if this agreement is passed, it will relieve the stockholders from their liability to the depositors. Four hundred shares out of the 1700 shares could perhaps be removed. The fact that is less than 25 per cent I suppose they got 30 per cent. There isn't a man on that board who will not pay what he owes the moment it is ascertained how much he owes. If you or others institute a suit against the bank the result will be that will forestall this settlement and any relief which would otherwise be within reach will be cut off as clean as if you should let a clever drop on it. The bank commissioners are in a position to be in, that is all evidence that it is correct."

"Even if I were the purchaser of every suit and every claim, I'd put this bank in the hands of a receiver. We would get what we could and then we'd go to the stockholders for the rest."

"It had not been for the good name of Mr. Taylor and Mr. Rutherford I don't believe that there is one of you who would have put a dollar in this bank."

"I believe that Mr. Phillips, the present president, is rich enough to pay all the indebtedness but he wants to get out of it. All the directors want to get out of it. They want to get out of it. If they want to get you into it, they are disposed to be fair, they should transfer the assets to a trustee or trustees and have the matter so settled up. This is no time to go into the banking business."

"Can you make money as bank when Collins and these other men failed? All I ask of you is to go to any reputable attorney and ask him what he would advise you to sign this agreement."

"But then, again, comes the liability of yourselves as stockholders. Yes, but not on the earlier mistakes. You could then have your expert go in there and examine the books every month. That would prevent a repetition of this kind."

"The money is put out on loans in which it is not readily convertible into cash. If you establish a board of directors of your own you will get results. There is of California ought to be so amended that it would be impossible, between December, 1906, and December 1907, for thousands of dollars to be lost."

DEPOSITOR ASKS QUESTION.

A depositor asked if any limit had been put upon the time for the signing of the agreement.

Mr. Davis said it depended upon the bank commissioners and the attorney-general. If the latter should decide that he was ready to take hold of the California Bank he could tell the bank commissioners that he wanted to have their report on the bank, but the speaker thought sufficient time would be given for the signing of the agreement. He thought they would have time to consider what they ought to do and be advised than to think and not to think in anger.

Mr. Davis said in response to a question that the thirty per cent of stock to be taken by the depositors would be divided into fractional shares.

Rev. E. S. Stucker then called for a vote to show how the people felt as regards the proposed agreement, and the vote resulted as given above, and the meeting adjourned.

Hundreds More in Oakland in the Same Plight.

Tired all the time: Weary and worn out night and day; Backaches; side aches.

All on account of the kidneys.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after meals, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectively clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal is Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; these are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of the skin will be restored.

A Buffalo physician, in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but

LOSES HIS COIN IN BUNCO GAME

Berkeley Telegraph Operator is Duped by Two S. F. Confidence Men.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO Jan. 4.—The old coin-matching game was the means used by two clever bunco men yesterday for securing $40 from J. P. McIntyre, a telegraph operator who lives at 1612 Dwight way, Berkeley. It was McIntyre's day off, and he had paid a visit to the city. At the corner of Third and Market he became interested in a conversation with an affable stranger. The latter proposed that they visit a target practice which was going on across the bay, and an agreement was made to meet at the ferry at noon. When McIntyre arrived the stranger was on hand before him, but by that time he had made up his mind to visit the warships in the bay. Accordingly the two men proceeded to Mission street wharf, where McIntyre's new acquaintance introduced him to a second man. While they were waiting for a launch someone proposed that they match coins. Within a very few minutes the unsuspecting Berkeley had lost $10 and was indoctrinated with the men, but they refused to give any of his money back.

It is accordingly reported the affair to the harbor police station, and Detectives Coston and Mackay are looking for the confidence men.

WILL ERECT NEW BUSINESS BLOCKS

Alameda Bank Arranging for the Construction of $40,000 Annex to Present Building.

ALAMEDA, Jan. 4.—The Alameda Bank is preparing to erect a $40,000 building in Park street, next to the present bank quarters, at the northeast corner of Central avenue. The building will be in annex to the present bank building. A part of it may be used for bank purposes, but at present it is the intention to erect for a number of business firms a new quarter. The upper floor of the building will be for offices.

The bank purchased the land a year ago from Captain Thompson. It is between the bank building and the People's Water Company structure. There is a range of 73 feet and a depth of 150 feet.

The name of Warren Olney, Jr., was substituted today for that of W. Olney, Jr., in more than a hundred condemnation suits that were brought in the past few years by the W. Olney, Jr., and Company, Inc., against the People's Water Company. Olney filed petitions to that effect this morning. There are about as many more condemnation suits brought by the W. Olney, Jr., and Company, Inc., and others, still outstanding in these also for the substituted director of the California Safe Deposit and Trust Company.

Acting Appraiser Clapp said yesterday that the total appraisement for 1907 over 1906 probably would have been $100,000,000, but that the value of the financial district, since the People's Water Company had fallen off during the last four months. The appraisement value of merchandise entered at this port during a total of $55,341,270.

Heart Troubles

The heart may be weak just the same as the eyes, stomach or other organs. It often happens that a person is born with a weak heart. Then again disease, fevers, over-exertion, anxiety, nervousness, rheumatism, etc. weaken the heart. The result is shortness of breath, palpitation, pain in the heart, or in some of the nerves of the chest or abdomen. The heart should be strengthened with a tonic, and for this nothing equals Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

I had Dr. Miles' last fall as I thought in a milder form. I was weak, tired, feeling, and short of breath. Could hardly go about, and a good deal of the time sort of an asthmatic breath, and extremely nervous. I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve and now I feel so much better in every way. I am so thankful that I began taking this medicine, and shall not hesitate to take others when much good it has done me."

Government Irrigation Investigation

The United States Department of Agriculture has been pursuing a series of irrigation and drainage investigations throughout the Western States and Territories for nearly ten years past. Congress made the first appropriation of $10,000 for the purpose in 1898. Since then this appropriation has been steadily increased to $150,000. Irrigation investigations have now been segregated, however, so that on the former basis of division some $65,000 will be available for the branch of the work, if the appropriations remain the same. As the amount will cover only from 5 to 10 per cent of the territory under actual irrigation, it is self-evident that, in order to get a greater degree of benefit from the work which the department has in hand, the appropriation should be increased, for the major part of the field wherein irrigation is employed as an agricultural agent remains uncovered.

California is deeply interested in the question of irrigation. Indeed, its direct interest in the subject is increasing each year, as new irrigation systems are being put in operation and new semi-arid districts are being brought under intensive forms of agriculture with the aid of water. For example: Two irrigable districts in the State—one in the vicinity of Winters, the other in and around Woodbridge and Lodi—are being brought under the operation of irrigation enterprises carried out by private corporations. In both districts agriculture has been conducted for many years in varied forms with varied degrees of success under natural conditions of water supply. But the artificial application of water removes the growing of crops from the domain of uncertainty and puts the land in a condition where its productiveness and value are enormously increased, while its capacity for carrying a much more numerous population is greatly enlarged. The Winters irrigation system is drawing its water supply from Cache creek: the Lodi-Woodbridge system takes its water from the Mokelumne river.

The Agricultural Department's irrigation investigations have been and will continue to be of immense value to those engaged in farming on lands of an arid or semi-arid character where reliance for crop-raising must be placed on the artificial application of water. Their purpose is to reduce the work of irrigation to what may be termed an exact science, so as to avoid the mistakes of pioneer experiments which were carried out by haphazard methods involving an enormous waste of water and labor and more or less of a misapplication of both. Through expert investigation a correct knowledge of the economy of water and labor and of the efficiency of the soil under irrigation treatment is obtained and serves as an infallible guide for those who settle upon the arid and semi-arid lands of the country, and steers them clear of the errors committed by the pioneers in this branch of agriculture. There is so much land in this State whose productiveness can be increased a hundredfold by irrigation and whose cultivation will greatly promote settlement that the California delegation in Congress should exercise all its influence to induce Congress to give the Agricultural Department liberal assistance in prosecuting this particular branch of scientific inquiry for the benefit of one of the State's greatest industries. The commercial bodies throughout the State should take up the subject also and bring their influence to bear on Congress for the same end. It is a matter of sufficient importance to warrant the strongest effort being made to carry it out to a complete success.

South Side Street Improvement.

The Board of Public Works is up against the most difficult kind of a problem in the matter of the reconstruction and care of the public streets carrying the traffic of the southern water front. It is a problem which is urgently seeking an early solution. With the single exception of lower Broadway all of the streets leading from the business center of Oakland to the southern water front are in a wretched condition owing to the tremendous wear and tear of the heavy traffic which they have been called upon to carry during the past twenty months. Some of them are no better than country roads today, owing to the way they have been cut up. The cross streets of Seventh have suffered correspondingly.

This is of course, one of the results of a sudden development of commerce on the water front and revolutionary change in the quality, weight and the volume of road traffic. These are growing daily. If anybody suspect that it will grow less in future, he has no just comprehension of what is taking place in this city and has a very erroneous conception of what is in store in the future—in the next twelvemonth, we may truthfully say. The city cannot lay idle and witness these southern street-end's wrecked so that traffic will be stalled. That is, however, what it is coming to. That is what the Board of Works must provide against. It is the problem of the hour which demands solution.

The southern streets were never built to carry the traffic passing over them today. There is lower Oak street, which was graded and macadamized less than three years ago at the cost of the property-owners. It is a sea of mud today. Lower Madison street was graded and macadamized during the past six months and it is beginning to go to rack and ruin already. It cannot be helped nor can it be ensured. The question up to the Board of Public Works is, How shall the south side streets from Cypress to the north arm of the estuary be paved so that they will carry the ever increasing traffic, and how shall the constantly increasing industrial on the south side of East Oakland be provided with suitably paved roadways to accommodate their growing traffic wants?

The traffic which the south side streets are carrying is the water and rail commerce of the whole city practically. It is, therefore, self-evident that the bulk of the burden of putting these streets in proper order should and must be borne by the city at large in all justice to the property fronting on them. Up to date, the northern arteries of travel—San Pablo and Telegraph avenues and Broadway—have received the main attention of the Board of Public Works, and yet these thoroughfares carry only the lighter form of traffic. Yet two of them have been practically reconstructed twice by the property fronting on them and twice by the municipality at large. It is time that serious attention should be given to the permanent improvement of the streets on the south side which are carrying all the heavier traffic of the city, and there should be no time lost in taking up the subject and putting some rational plan of reconstruction in operation which will fully meet present and future requirements.

Great Naval Base

Among the bills to be presented to Congress will be one by Congressman E. A. Hayes of the Fifth District of California providing for the construction of a great naval base at some point on the Pacific coast.

For the protection of the population and great wealth centered on the Atlantic ocean side of the continent, and to protect the vast commerce carried on from Atlantic ports, we have the great Atlantic squadron and thirteen naval shore stations to keep the fleet in condition.

In looking after the population, the commerce and the wealth of the Atlantic coast cities our lawmakers exercised wisdom. But they have overlooked the population, the wealth and commerce of the Pacific coast states. We have only two naval stations on the entire 2000 mile stretch of Pacific shore line, and neither of these stations is adequate to accommodate a great fleet of warships in time of peace, to say nothing of war.

The population and commerce of the nation are gradually shifting toward the Pacific. The figures that tell the story are amazing: Seattle, for instance, has jumped in population from 46,320 in 1897 to 232,000 in 1907. In 1907 Seattle's bank clearings—the best thermometer of a city's progress—were $36,045,228. In 1908 they totaled $485,920,021. Tacoma and Spokane have made equally brilliant gains.

Portland's clearing house association record for 1908 showed gold clearings of $281,170,796.26, against $58,842,284 in 1907. In 1906 Portland issued 392 building permits; in 1906, 3307. In the seven years following 1900 Sacramento, California, jumped in population from 28,282 to 48,000. Her assessment roll swelled from $16,513,875 to $26,300,000.

The four bay cities—San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda—have a combined population of 775,652. These cities have actually gained 130,000 in population since the fire and earthquake of only a year and a half ago.

Fresno and San Diego have not only kept pace with this seven-league-boot stride, but have made greater proportionate gains.

The growth of Los Angeles is the wonder of the century. In 1890 the city of Los Angeles had a population of 50,375. In 1900 she had reached the 100,000 mark. Today Los Angeles has a population of close on to 200,000.

What is true of the growth of cities also applies to commerce. In 1897 the total tonnage of American steamships engaged in foreign commerce on the Pacific was 23,426. In 1906 it had increased to 149,685 tons. Today it exceeds 175,000 tons.

Congress should heed these figures. The wealth and population of the Pacific coast have reached a stage where they are worthy of the same protection as that furnished the Atlantic coast.

A fleet of warships and an adequate base for it to operate from will add impetus to the prosperity of the Pacific slope and give stability and confidence to the fast-developing foreign commerce of the Pacific.

One of the Nobel prizes this year has been awarded to Professor A. A. Michelson of Chicago in honor of his discovery of a new method of determining the velocity of light waves. Having attained this merited renown, we hope the distinguished scientist will now turn his attention to more practical problems, say the velocity and rate of the Bryan brain waves. If the public could discover the precise speed at which and the direction in which the Commoner evolves new solutions for world riddles life would be made easier. But light is a laggard in comparison with the Commoner's mental activities and the physicist may expect a hard tussle with the problem.

There seems to be some general relation between Bryanism, the cerebral element exciting the Bryan brain waves and radium. Like the rays sent forth by the latter, Bryanism rays are absolutely dark, producing a weird efflorescence (called the silver tongued oratory) only in the electrified vacuum of a democratic meeting. Then, too, a small amount of Bryanism sets up a tremendous in-

Home of the Stork Is Town in New Jersey 96 PER CENT OF THE POPULATION HAVE BABIES WITHIN THE LAST TWO YEARS PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IS DELIGHTED

Rewards Increase in Population by Appointing a Postmaster and Also an Assistant When He Learns of the Many New Arrivals.

Statistics show that Roebling, N. J., takes the prize for having more babies than any other town in the Union.

The town is only two years old and in that time 96 per cent of the homes have been visited by the stork.

Roebling is a model mining town erected by a large bridge building concern which has spared no efforts to make the town an attractive place for the mechanics to make their homes. The houses are artistic and convenient and show signs of thrift and comfort.

No saloons are allowed by the company. Men may go to the neighboring town when they must drink but if any disturbance is made it costs the man his position. As a result of this rule there are no neglected, half-fed little ones running the streets, while the money which should have gone to feed and clothe them has been spent over a bar.

The mechanics who have settled here are of the highest class of Americans skilled working men. They are sober and industrious and their families are all well cared for and happy.

Roebling's population is composed of three thousand adults. In all, there are about nine hundred families. As has been said, the stork has paid visits to 96 per cent of these families in two years. In some homes, the wonderful Stork has left at intervals, as many as three calling cards. In other homes, these marvellous cards have been left in pairs, and, in a few cases, three at a time.

The greatest pride of the citizens of Roebling is based upon their record for the last two months. In this period the stork has not missed a day.

There was one week in which the busy visitor was entertained in forty-two homes, and two consecutive days tallied up nine calls each.

The nurses and doctors have been kept so busy that calls were sent to the neighboring towns for assistance. The fond mothers are planning a baby show in the early part of the year and expect to eclipse anything which has ever been held in New Jersey before.

There seems to be but one serious argument which disturbs the town. Some of the good folks wish to change the name of Central avenue, the home of most of the rising generation, to Roosevelt avenue, while others think Stork street would be more appropriate.

Roebling appeared as if by magic upon the Jersey map.

A delegation of Roeblingites took a petition to Washington for a post-office. Then they called upon President Roosevelt, and, in telling of their mission, mentioned their babies and was so delighted by their story of their valiant work in increasing the population that he called a page and sent him out with a message.

The consequence was that the appointment of L. S. Major as postmaster at Roebling reached the town ahead of the returning delegation. Oscar Adams has since been appointed assistant postmaster.

ATHLETIC COLLEGE GIRL

Uses 30-Foot Rope AND FLEES FROM DORMITORY

NEW YORK Jan. 4.—Thirty feet of rope sent by a girl in a Christmas box to Miss Ruth Kendall, at the Norwalk Flushing School, in Connecticut, was responsible for a merry runaway wedding party at the Holland House. The former Miss Kendall, appeared as Mrs. Alfred Kent.

Mrs. Kent laughingly admitted that she had reached her fiancée's arms only after traversing the thirty feet of rope hanging from a window in the boarding school her chum, Miss Ethel Kelsey, of 155 West Forty-eighth street, was present at the celebration and said that she was proud to state that she sent the rope which had brought about such a happy result.

But the rope descent was not the only feature of this romance. It was founded strictly upon Romeo-Juliet lines, for the fathers of Miss Kendall and Kent have been bitter enemies for a generation. When Mr. Kendall, in his home in Raleigh, N. C., learned that a "Kent boy" from Asheville, N. C., had made the acquaintance of his daughter, strict orders were set to the school that Miss Kendall's maid should be carefully watched and her excursions from the school well observed.

CARDS FREQUENT.

Miss Kendall and Kent met last summer during their vacations at the Thousand Islands. Miss Kendall told where she was to be sent to school, and Kent promised to call frequently. His calls attracted the attention of the school authorities, and they communicated with the girl's parents, asking if it was with their consent that Kent so frequently met the girl.

The first answer to the inquiry came by telegraph, followed by a long letter of instructions. These replies shut off all chance of the sweethearts' meeting, although they were still able to keep up a more or less infrequent correspondence through friends.

Kent begged for an immediate marriage, and while Miss Kendall was willing, she could not find means to escape from the school, and she found that her letters were being "inspected." In her despair she sent, through a friend, a letter to Miss Kelsey in this city. She knew Miss Kelsey had at one time attended the school, and had on her own account made a famous escape from her room. The latter implored Miss Kelsey to send directions for an escape.

"When I received the letter," said Miss Kelsey last evening, "I decided that there was no better way of getting out of the school than the one I had employed. The students all sleep upon the third floor, so the windows are regarded as safe. In the room I formerly occupied there is a broad ledge about ten feet below the window that gives a girl a chance to rest if she tries to escape by means of the bedclothes or a rope."

TO BREAK FALL.

"I had to use bedclothes, but I prepared a box with thirty feet of rope and sent it to Miss Kendall, marked Merry Christmas from E. K." Those are my initials, but they also happen to be the initials of Miss Kendall's father, so the boy was given to her without inspection. I told her to get my old room, and to throw out all her bedclothes so as to make a soft place to land upon when she reached the end of the rope."

Miss Kendall, or rather Mrs. Kent, received the rope without any suspicion being excited and on Wednesday last was able to secure the room that had been suggested by her friend. Kent was already in Norwalk and through friends the two planned to elope Thursday night.

Mrs. Kent said:

"It was all so jolly and just as romantic as a girl could imagine in her dreams."

"I was obliged to wait until about 3 o'clock, as regular trips through the rooms are made by teachers up to that hour. I was afraid that I would slide too rapidly down the rope and not be able to check myself at the ledge marked out as a resting place."

Before attempting her descent Miss Kendall and a girl whom was intensely interested in the romance, placed knots in the rope at regular intervals. Miss Kendall is an athletic girl and led her gymnasium class, so she had no doubt of her ability to make the thirty-

IDEAL ARTS AND CRAFTS BAKERY

An arts-and-crafts bakery has been added to the list of hand-made furniture, hand-woven rugs and hand-worked metal put out by the various craftsmen's settlements. The bakery has been opened at Alpine, N. J., and sends out its wares in dust-proof packages. But the object of the new bakery is not so much to provide germ-free bread and cookies as to illustrate a new theory of industrial life.

According to the plans of its founder, Prof. Copeland, of Wesleyan University, this factory is to be educational as well as productive, and the working unit is not the day laborer, but the family. The factory forms an industrial settlement where the women live and work with their children, who help around the shop, and in that way gain their industrial training. Aside from this, regular play and school hours are assigned, so that the little apprentices are in no way the neglected, overworked victims pictured in child-labor literature. The men in the establishment are old hands, who through age or illness can no longer do the full day's work required by the trade unions. They come to the bread shop and put in as much time as they are able to, and are paid accordingly.

The salaries are regulated by a point system. For so many hours' work each helper—man, woman or child—receives so many points to his credit. On pay day the profits of the factory are divided among the hands, each getting an amount in proportion to the number of points to his credit.

There are now forty families on the waiting list, in addition to the helpers already in the shop.

MOTHER In Extreme Poverty ADVERTISES To Give BABY

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—A blue-eyed baby girl, hardly past three months old, looked wonderingly through the dirty window of an east side tenement house yesterday afternoon at children playing in the street. The baby was held by her mother, a thin little woman down whose face tears rolled.

One thought alone was this mother's. She must soon part with her child forever! She was Mrs. Minnie Warthall, of No. 35 Willitt street, who put the following advertisement in yesterday's newspapers:

BABY GIRL. 3 months old, will be given away to any one who calls. Mrs. Warthall, #35 Willitt st., first floor, front left hand.

There were three applicants for the child yesterday. Mrs. Goldman, as she promised, gave the child to Mrs. G. C. Whitney, of No. 385 Fifth avenue, Brooklyn, whose husband is employed by the Forden Milk Company. She is a young woman, whose own baby died three months ago. Mrs. Whitney was to return in the afternoon for the baby and Mrs. Goldman, who had only a few hours to hold the child, wept continually. She had promised to sign away all her rights to the child.

THE MOTHER'S STORY. "When we were on the point of starvation I thought seriously of killing myself. I even walked toward the river with this thought in mind. But I mastered this impulse and returned home. There the idea came to me to advertise for a mother for little Rosa."

"I advertised two weeks ago that I would give my baby away and a woman came and took Rosa. I was so heart sick and miserable when the woman came that I did not think to ask who she was or where she lived. I received a letter next day from the woman telling me who she was and where I could find her. I was so unhappy without my child that I visited the lady and asked her to let me have the baby back. She consented and I was happy until I realized that I could not support the child. I was compelled to advertise again yesterday, and this time I must give up all claim to dear little Rosa."

"A month after Rosa was born I was taken ill and was in a Bronx hospital for some time. When I returned home I found my husband had turned the child as her own child."

Mrs. Whitney says she will treat Rosa as her own child.

Child Wife Weeps for Return of Husband

NEW YORK, Jan. 4.—Mrs. Gladys Conyngham, of 369 Nostrand Avenue Brooklyn, a bride of a year, and hardly more than a child in her experience with the world, has been deserted by her husband.

Unable to earn a living, she has written a pathetic appeal to the officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at Pittsburg, and to the Pittsburg police, begging their aid to find and restore her husband to her. This is the letter:

"I am eighteen years old. I was married one year ago. My husband was very cross with me, but I did not mind that, although at times he nearly broke my heart. He left me three weeks ago. I have cried myself to sleep every night since he left me. I have not eaten nor rested for three days.

"Go and make a living in New York, he advised me before he left. See how you like it," he said.

"I have tried New York, as I have no friends in Brooklyn. He said he would not be with me any more. It has been the bitterest fight!" In New York men would come up to me until my eyes filled with tears.

"I feel so wretched and friendless. Please tell Davy I want him and ask him to love me and forget we quarreled. Please tell him I am sick and alone since he left me to die. He has written to a friend here saying he was working for the Pennsylvania Railroad. He must surely see or hear of this note from his little girl, and it will make him cry, too.

"MRS. GLADYS CONYNGHAM."

The police of Pittsburg have written to the lonely wife that they will certainly send her husband back to her.

WOULD BATHE IN PUBLIC; BAR FORM-FITTING DRESS

English Writer Comments on Ideas of Japanese Women and Their Present Condition.

No religion in the world, says the Black and White, seems to have been so effective as that of the Japanese in producing a people capable of the highest forms of self-sacrifice. Cleanliness, we are often told, is next to godliness. And in point of cleanliness, too, the Japanese are far ahead of any European people. Every man, woman, and child in Japan takes a bath every afternoon—often in public!

It must be admitted, however, that nowadays the custom of bathing at one's doorway, and meanwhile chatting to neighbors across the street, is more confined than it used to be even a few years ago to the remoter and smaller towns and villages.

Mr. Holland wisely refuses to see in the habit of indiscriminate and public bathing any sign of decadence on the part of the Japanese people, for, though the bath is not now in the doorway but in the house, bathers may still be invited to have a chat with the host or hostess while the bath is in progress. This, however, shows merely a difference of manners, not of character.

Japanese women who would unhesitatingly take their bath in public if the necessity arose, would regard with horror the wearing of a costume which was designed to show off the figure, though still completely covering it, or which was decollete to the extent in vogue in English drawing-rooms or at English dinner-parties.

Personally, I am inclined to think that the balance of modesty lies with the Japanese ladies.

POSITION OF WOMEN. Perhaps the least admirable feature in Japanese life is the comparatively poor position held by women. This, however, is only in the higher classes, where the love-honor-and-obey ideal is still the iron rule. In the working classes the women possess the splendid liberty enjoyed by their sisters in the West to earn their bread in the sweat of their brows, and, incidentally, to graduate to the peerage in every afternoon.

In spite of the absence of Christianity, the wealthier Japanese have adopted some of the habits of Christian nations, after all.

SENSE OF BEAUTY. The Christian nations, in their turn, might well adopt a good many of the habits of the Japanese—the habit of doing things beautifully, for instance.

In Japan it is not thought a pleasure for a maid-of-all-work to wear a red and this, I think, is an evidence of the spirit that has made Japan great. The cook, too, is taught to cultivate her sense of beauty, so that she will know how to choose dishes of a colour that will harmonize with that of the food they contain.

To those who know the social side of Japanese life well, the question of the geisha and her alliance with men of good family presents an almost parallel problem to that provided by the tendency of music-hall artists and actresses to gravitate to the peerage in our own land.

In spite of the absence of Christianity, the wealthier Japanese have adopted some of the habits of Christian nations, after all.

IDEAL MAN CONTEST TO END TODAY LAST LETTERS PUBLISHED SUNDAY

The contest for the best description of an ideal young man closes today. Tomorrow the last letters to be printed will appear and the prize winner will be announced during the week. The following are some of the views on the ideal man.

Must Not, When Right, Be Afraid of Laughter.

My ideal of a young man is one as good as he expects his sister or sweetheart to be. He is thoughtful of his mother's happiness, does his part to make home happy and takes God and the Bible as his guide. He is not afraid of being laughed at by boys when he does right; does not think women folks were created especially to wait on him and has not too exalted an opinion of himself.

SUBSCRIBER. Fruitaile.

Must Be Business-Like; Temperate in Habits

My ideal young man is one of manly appearance, temperate in his habits, has proper regard for women, especially his mother, gives due respect for his father, and possesses the knack of being agreeable at any time; must have strong will power, be business-like and not have too much to occupy his mind so as to be concealed about his good looks or his station in life or to stoop to anything that would destroy his manliness. Yours truly,

MORAN AND ATTELL ARE OFFERED A GOOD DATE

Featherweights Cannot Agree on Weights; Abe Attell Gives Free Fight With Sparring Partner--Gossip.

By EDDIE SMITH.

The fight talk between the little feller, Owen Moran, and Abe Attell, grows warmer each day, and last night both Attell and Moran unbundled themselves of a lot of not very complimentary talk regarding the other. The public had little interest in the personal differences of the two men, but they are interested in the talk of a return match.

Moran has said that he will meet Attell at the featherweight limit, which he sets at 122 pounds, but insists that the weight be taken at least two hours before the contests. Attell claims that the featherweight limit is 122 pounds at ringside, and that he will sign immediately for a return match at weight but at no other.

Moran, of course, was the surprise in the Attell match, the Eastern people not even giving him a chance with the clever Hebrew, now that he has gone on and secured a draw with the champion he has been bugging with offers to fight to other cities, and for this reason, Charlie Harvey, his manager, is of the opinion that his man has the upper hand and he will not give in to the weight conditions asked by Attell.

Harvey has received offers to fight Tommy O'Toole in Philadelphia before the National Athletic Club, for which he is to receive a guaranteed purse, the other from Dr. J. P. on and offers the English fighter a contest with Al Delmont for a two-round contest to take place at Chelsea. Moran has beaten both men in previous battles, but it is claimed that each made a good showing against the clever Attell. Attell is as independent as John D. Rockefeller, however, and he will always be prone to think of giving in to the weight asked by Moran.

James Crofton is willing to handle the contest on Washington's birthday, and if the match can be made will most likely get it. The Cohan promoter will not bid for the contest. If the weighing is to be done at the ringside, however, he having made a resolution some time ago never to handle a ringside weighing fight again.

Said James last night when asked if he would like to handle the contest: "I do not like to answer that question, for it puts me in the light of taking Moran's part. This match I will see, though, if the mates is made. I would like to handle it, for I believe that the people would like to see the little fellows settle the championship in San Francisco. If the match was not made at a reasonable weight, however, the people would refuse to take an interest in it, as they would say that it would be the same as the other contest which ended in a draw."

The story goes that Farmer soon found his way to Eddie Hanlon's place and then there began to tell the people what a nice man Mr. Attell was to give him $10 for his hard work. The stories were soon carried to Attell and last night he took Mr. Farmer by surprise when he gave him a good talking and then proceeded to hand one on the ear with telling effect, and then place another in the large fighter's mid section, which made him feel very uncomfortable. Friends separated the men and settled the dispute by sending Farmer on his way.

SULLIVAN-BURKE MATCH. Dick Sullivan and Billy Burke were matched last night for Marysville, the contest to take place January 23 in a new theater that has recently been erected in the fast-growing town. The men are to get 50 per cent of the gate receipts and will split the purse, 60 per cent to the winner and 40 per cent to the loser.

How much better Moran would be at a heavier weight there is no telling, but at a heavier weight Attell may also be.

Plan Swell Boxing Club

Japanese Will Become Jockeys

BERLIN, Jan. 4.—One of the first visible evidences of the reality of the Count Okuma's advice to the Japanese nation to extend its economic activities beyond the Orient into Europe is the appearance of six Japanese youths on Austro-Hungarian race tracks as jockeys.

Bernard von Stommer, the well known Hungarian sportsman, has engaged them for his stable and will put them through a course of instruction during the winter with a view to then riding his horses on various European tracks next summer.

He believes their light weight and natural skill equip them ideally for jockeyship. The experiment will be watched with great interest by German stable owners with a view to importing Japanese riders themselves.

Tad Jones Will Not Play Ball

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—"I have been after Tad Jones, Yale, catcher, for months," said Charlie Murphy, president of the Chicago club. "Tad has been away, but he has informed me that he will not play professional baseball. He was recommended to Frank Chance last year on our last trip East by a man in whom I have a high degree of confidence. At that time Jones said he had no desire to go to professional ball. When I asked him if Billy Lush had recommended him to Cleveland I wired him again, requesting an answer to my letter. He wired me back, thanking me for the offer, but explaining his desire that he did not want to play professional baseball."

"So that means that Jones is out of the market, and I have given him up."

Ball Game for Freeman's Park

THE SHELL MOUND CLUB AND RIFLE CLUB will hold its first shoot for the new year next Sunday at the Shell Mound Park Shooting range, and a very large attendance is expected, as it will be the opening of the new season and every member is greatly interested as they have been practicing every Sunday so as to do their best.

The club has adopted a new target or the 50 yard rifle range and it is expected that with a smaller bullet the three inches in diameter, better scores will be made.

Besides $350 in prizes donated by the club the following donations have been thankfully received and have been added to the program: National Brewing Co.'s trophy; Siebe Gorman's handicap trophy; Capt. G. L. Lusk's trophy; H. Huber trophy; H. A. Harlan's trophy; William Ginderman trophy; O. A. Poulsen trophy; B. S. Wixson trophy; Shooting Masters' pistol handicap trophy; President and Vice-President trophy; and T. L. Lewis trophy.

Joe Gans Defeats 'Bat' Blackburn

BALTIMORE, January 4.—At a benefit here last night, given to his ex-partner, Herman Miller, Joe Gans, the light-weight champion, knocked out "Bat" Blackburn in the middle of the third round. Willie Flanagan was to have been Gans' opponent, but he failed to show up. Gans showed all his old-time form and while Blackburn showed cleverness, he was no match for Gans. For two rounds, Gans had Blackburn going and in the third round he waded in and put the Phildelphian away.

But Blackburn is not Jack Blackburn, the crackling Eastern scrapper.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE WILL HAVE FOUR CLUBS

Magnates Unable to Secure Two More Cities That Would be Good Paying Investment.

By T. P. MACGILLIGAN.

At the meeting of the directors of the Pacific Coast League held in the Crocker Building, in San Francisco, yesterday, it was practically determined that the organization would run along again next year with the usual four clubs. Only one man, R. F. Goings, of Venice, near Los Angeles, applied in person for franchise. As no other cities are available it is now practically an assured fact that the league will run along with four clubs next season.

The six-city circuit was thoroughly over, and the chances of the Pacific Club League had not entirely given over the idea, but from yesterday's development it hardly seems that the Coast League will be able to expand to six clubs at least for some little time to come.

The four club circuit last season was a paying investment, and the magnates believe in working along on the soundly grounded business principle of letting well enough alone.

The magnates have not altogether abandoned hope of a six club league circuit, and appointed a committee, consisting of President Cal Ewing of the Coast League, Ed. Walter of Oakland, and Judge McCrode of Portland to look further into the matter.

Whether they will be able to secure any more cities remains to be seen. San Luis Obispo, which from yesterday's development is hardly seems that the Coast League will be able to expand to six clubs at least for some little time to come.

Cal Ewing has signed his contract with the Boston Americans for the coming year. This will mark his nineteenth year in baseball, seventeen of which were spent in major league company.

Oakland can now claim this distinction of being the swellest billiard parlor west of Chicago.

BILLIARD NOTES

The opening of Oakland's swell new billiard parlors at 118 Thirteenth street was a complete success and a source of great pleasure to billiardists who appreciate the luxury of a perfectly equipped parlor where they can enjoy their game surrounded by every possible refinement, entirely freed from the customary annoyances common to the average billiard room. The tables, ivories and cues are of the finest of Brunswick-Balke Co.'s manufacture. The seating arrangement was a revelation to spectators who think they can now see the entire play without missing any one of the fine points. The crowd on the opening night were unanimous in pronouncing the equipment perfect in every detail. To show their appreciation of the splendid work the proprietors and employees presented Mr. Chaplin with a magnificent floral piece, "Success," several of San Francisco's experts on visiting the place have expressed regrets that it was not in San Francisco instead of Oakland. Noticeable among the visitors from across the bay were Messrs. Signorini, Madrutt, Simplins, Harts and Dr. Davis. New Year's eve Mr. Siguerny entertained several friends with some of imitable wizard-like plays at three cushions.

Oakland can now claim this distinction of being the swellest billiard parlor west of Chicago.

Soccer Men Play Again Tomorrow

The second half of the California Association football series will open again tomorrow when the eight teams will once more clash against each other for the national struggle for supremacy.

The Albion Rovers are still the leaders and are the only undefeated team in the league this season. They have been in fourteen encounters, both league and friendly games, winning twelve, and drawing two, losing none. In the league table they have sixteen points to their credit, out of a possible eighteen, and although they have done exceedingly well so far, it remains to be seen whether they will duplicate their work in the second half of the series as they have done in the first.

The Thistles are following the Albion very close, they having gained 13 points, and it is generally conceded by all the fans that they will yet give the Rovers a very hard run for the championship, as they are and have been playing strong football all through the season, and it will be interesting to watch these teams from now on to see them both striving for the coveted "crown."

The balance of the teams are also playing good football. The Vampires, San Francisco and Independents are all working for third position in the league.

The latter team, it is reported, have been strengthened by the inclusion of Glenn and Buchanan, both having been transferred from the Scottie Club.

The Thistles, therefore, will be able to put up a strong team against the Albions tomorrow, and believe they will be the ones to first lower the leaders' flag, as the last time these two teams were together the game resulted in a draw.

The Rovers on the other hand will play their same team as heretofore, and confidently expect to come out with flying colors, but the consensus of opinion is that it will be a hard tussle all through the contest.

The games for tomorrow are as follows:

San Francisco vs. Vampires at Alameda.

Hornets vs. Thistles at Seventh avenue and California street, San Francisco.

Scouts vs. Burns at Stadium, San Francisco.

Independents vs. Albion Rovers at Freeman's Park, Oakland.

All games commence at 2:30 p. m. sharp.

Keogh Would Play Hueston

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 4.—Jerome Keogh of this city, the former world's pool champion, is going to the laurels again this season, and declared yesterday that if Tommy Hueston of St. Louis would decide on St. Louis as the playing ground, he would issue a challenge to him. Keogh specifies St. Louis, as he is about to go at the end of the month.

The game should come off neatly in the way of profits.

MAN FROM THE MINES CALLS ON DOCTORS TO ESTABLISH HIS SANITY

WANTS NO SHADOW OF DOUBT UPON WHICH CONTEST OF HIS WILL CAN BE MADE.

C. W. Montgomery, a miner of Iron Mountain, Michigan, has $3,000,000 that he wants to dispose of by will but he wants to be sure that he does it in legal fashion. He does not want an shadow cast upon his will after he is dead so that endless litigation may ensue.

He walked into the receiving room today and asked to see a doctor that might be examined as to his sanity.

"I'm not any crazier than you are," he said to Assistant Steward John J. Tracy, "but I want a doctor to examine me and certify to the fact that when I am making my will I am of sound and of posting mind. Then it will be all right."

Montgomery said his property consisted of valuable mines in Michigan worth at least $8,000,000. He has been offered that much for them, he declared, but I'll take that much out of the ground the first year at least.

He will travel he wanted to have all his property to Cushing Peed of the Commercial Bank of Iron Mountain. Tracy induced him to promise to leave fifteen per cent of it when the will is drawn. There was no physician at the hospital at the time so the examination as to his sanity could not be made.

Montgomery was not disappointed.

I am a miner he said and I work underground all the time. I might be ill any minute so I had better make a will now.

Following the examination Montgomery was allowed to leave the hospital.

THUG WORE BLACK MASK AND BRASS KNUCKLES ON EACH HAND.

(Special to the Tribune)

SAN FRANCISCO Jan 4.—A burglar of the most terrible type who robed a black mask and handkerchief and a suit of clothes entered the house of John E. Eales at 19 Calvary street while his little son Louis, trembling with fear, was a willing spectator.

Last night about 10 o'clock father and his daughter decided to go out to get some oysters leaving the boy in the house. They had gone but a few minutes when the boy heard a noise, a struggle with the less at the front door. Frightened almost out of his senses he crept to the window and thence out to the street. The burglar was not careful in his efforts to get out the front door, going at and to the rear, for the door with a jamb and prodded to take everything of value he could find. He evidently knew he had little time to work for he stayed in the house only a few minutes.

WORE BRASS KNUCKLES

The burglar said the man wore brass knuckles on both hands but a black mask on his face and a handkerchief tied around his neck and wore dark clothes. He was of slender build and weighed about 110 pounds.

When Berger returned home he found his little son in an extremely nervous condition and a physician had to be called to attend him.

The residence of James McCann at 92 Harrison street was entered by a burglar at an early hour this morning who paid an open rear window and got away with $125 in cash and jewels to the value of $100. The family were not disturbed and the loss was not discovered until McCann arose this morning.

HEALD'S COLLEGE MOST POPULAR INSTITUTION

Among the private schools in this city will be found one that is probably the best on the Pacific Coast, and second best in the West. It is the Heald Dixon College. This school occupies three entire floors of the elegant new four story building which was erected especially for the Heald Dixon College at Sixteenth and San Pablo. It is said that the number of students has increased in making this year, and in every year a visit to the campus demonstrates that the educational institution opens more and more to the new term beginning next Monday.

A new department is just being added for instruction in a more advanced branch of study, and the preparation and training of teachers. The aim of this department is to do regular normal school work comprising both academic and professional training. Art of teaching, etc., will be afforded the students in this department.

There are four departments in charge of the school, and are also associated with the college.

Curious Manhattan Cocktails are the talk of the town. For mixed drinks go to the Galindo Hotel bar.

IMPROVEMENT IN EDUCATION MADE

Teachings of First Congregational Sunday School Are Changed for New Year.

Beginning January 5 new courses of study will begin in all grades of the First Congregational Church Sunday school. The Bible study in the school is carefully and systematically planned to meet the needs of all ages. The kindergarten, primary and junior departments are for boys and girls up to the age of 12 years, and the Bible is given to them in story and narrative form—none there are no more fascinating stories in the world than Joseph, Gideon, David and Jonathan and others.

At the adolescent age 12 to 18 the Bible is studied in the intermediate department from a biographical standpoint Abraham, the faithful David, the warrior Stephen, the martyr and others.

In the senior department 18 to 20 the more philosophical treatment of religious truths is attempted and pupils are asked to give reasons for the faith that is in them.

NEW COURSES
A number of new courses are to be used during 1908. In the primary department Miss Francis H. Gray, principal a course published by the Pilgrim Press Boston is to be used. This course has ten each pupil reproductions of famous pictures illustrating each Sunday's lesson. The lesson is told by the principal and reviewed by the teacher.

The junior department Miss Alice M. Elkin principal studies one year in Old Testament stories one year in stories about Christ and one year in New Testament stories. The texts used are written by Erasmus Blakeslee.

In the intermediate department Rev. H. B. Mowbray principal the first year is devoted to Old Testament history pre-for High School girls. "His Great Apostle and Missionaries from Paul to Carey and Judson" Professor W. F. Bidebeams January 5 to conduct the "Bury People" Bible Class on the Idea of God in the Old Testament. This is open to the public and meets in the church auditorium at 12:30 Sundays. It is a valuable course for Sunday school teachers and parents.

SOCIAL DUTIES
A Sunday School orchestra is being formed under the leadership of Miss Sydney Miller. The picture is the boy who sings in the Sunday school sessions. This has been organized for over four years and gives an opportunity for many to sing to make joyful song for the Lord.

THE MEDDLER

Californians seem to be very much in evidence this winter in social centers of the East, in New York, Boston and Washington, and one hears of them in London and Paris. In fact some of the best dressed women on the Paris boulevards are from California. Among the leaders of the smart set in New York are Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, formerly Tessie Fair and Mrs. Charles Alexander, formerly Hattie Crocker.

Mrs. Oelrichs is an intimate friend of Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, one of the most fearless and most intrepid social leaders New York has ever had. Mrs. Alexander is a very prominent member of New York's more conservative set—the group of people who set strict standards and in many cases point proudly to a family tree worth while.

One of the largest dinner dances of the year was given last week by Mrs. Alexander at the family home in New York, in honor of her daughter, Harriett Alexander, one of New York's very popular girls.

The dance was preceded by dinner for seventy guests, who were seated at six tables. Mrs. Alexander wore a gown of dark blue net over white silk, and trimmed with pale pink crushed roses and silver, and her daughter, Harriett Alexander, wore a pink liberty satin gown embroidered in pink.

The beautiful drawing room was decorated in pink and white roses.

The cotillion which began after 10, was led by Worthington Whitehouse, who danced with Miss Harriet Alexander. There were five favor figures. The favors for the first three, prepared by Miss Robinson, were Diabolos set; silver pig match safes, shoulder knots of Spring flowers with ribbons, Grecian pin cushions, liberty scarfs in pink, blue, violet and yellow; cigarette boxes, painted picture frames, satinwood boxes, Japanese umbrellas tied with holly and red ribbon, and snowmen, tied with ribbons. At the conclusion of the cotillion there was general dancing, followed by a buffet supper.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER.

Miss Irene Howland, a talented singer who has come recently from Boston to make her home in this city. She is the daughter of Mrs. H. J. Peters of East Oakland.

Miss Charlton who is visiting at Del Monte and Miss Irma Moore, who entertained informally during the holidays at her home.

MRS. MILLER AN IDEAL HOST.

Among the most enthusiastic of hostesses across the bay is Mrs. H. M. A. Miller, and her guests are often her young girl friends. Mrs. Miller has with her a great deal this year her niece, Miss Marian Miller, who will be one of the debutantes of next season. Miss Miller spent last year in the East, at the Scoville School, and she represents a very stunning type of girl.

She is a much loved niece of Mrs. George McNear, Jr. of Mrs. Edward Lacey Brayton, and of Mrs. A. S. Macdonald. Her mother was formerly the beautiful Miss Eva Tucker, whose friends have for her the most affectionate of memories.

The H. M. A. Millers have a very beautiful home on Washington street in San Francisco, in which they are constantly entertaining relatives and guests.

Mrs. Miller gave an informal holiday dinner at her home last week, entertaining for Miss Marian Miller and Miss Helen Jones. She chaperoned the young people later to the theater.

HATHAWAYS IN JAPAN.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Hathaway are now in Japan, where they are spending some weeks on their way home from the Philippines.

Mrs. Hathaway was formerly Miss Mary Hyde, one of the bright girls of the younger set who have lived so long in the Lakeside district.

Mr. and Mrs. Hyde and their daughter, Katherine Hyde, who have been spending some months in Berkeley, are to return to their Oakland home in a few weeks, after which the Hathaways will be their guests.

MRS. FRANK BRIGHAM'S ILLNESS.

All her many friends are sorry, very sorry indeed, to hear of the serious illness of Mrs. Frank Brigham, who is at Fabiola Hospital. The Brighams have lived for some months at Los Gatos, where Mr. Brigham purchased some time ago a beautiful country home.

The Misses Beulah and Gladys Brigham are the guests of the Misses English while Mrs. Brigham is at the hospital.

All her friends hope that the illness may not be as serious as has been feared, and that Mrs. Brigham may be quite herself again in the near future.

The Brighams lived here so long that they have many friends who are greatly interested in news of them.

JANUARY LUNCHEONS.

One of the interesting of the holiday luncheons has been set for Saturday, January 10th, when Mrs. Squire V. Mooney is to entertain in honor of Miss Marian Lally.

Twelve guests have been asked to meet this attractive young debutante.

Mrs. Lally and her daughter will leave on January 15th for New York, and they are to spend the remainder of the winter there.

this and last season, with a score or more of the younger married set from both official and resident circles.

SHE LIKES THE MEDDLER.

One of the nicest women I know at the head of one of the happiest households, writes:

"I like The Meddler. Its brim full of social, friendly news, and also of wise suggestions. In the new year I think a helpful suggestion is along home lines in these strenuous times. Each member might be helpful and to relieve the overburdened fathers and mothers, and in many cases, brothers.

"Each member should help curtail expenses, when needed, and take her part in making family life simpler and better.

"I know of one girl who has learned to laund her own white waists, and another has learned to make all the bread used by the family. Domestic service is so poor nowadays that if our families thrive we must learn to do much ourselves.

"But indeed I could write a long essay on this subject, for the first thing in these strenuous days is to preserve the home, which is certainly threatened in many directions. There are clubs for many things, but don't you think for the young girls, a 'home-keeping club' might be a good idea?"

Miss Madeline Clay and Miss Standard are spending a few days in San Jose, where they are the guests of friends.

Miss Madeline Clay is such a bright and attractive girl that she has had a very royal welcome home from many relatives. Miss Margaret Sinclair is with Mrs. Clay in the family home at Fruitvale.

MACDONALDS IN THEIR NEW HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Macdonald are now comfortably established in their new home at Linda Vista, and their friends are being made welcome there with all the hospitality that has always characterized the Macdonalds.

The many members of the family make a delightful family group, among whom are the J. H. Macdonalds, beautiful Berenice Macdonald, and the Roy Macdonalds.

The new home of the Macdonalds is one of the most picturesque on Vernon Heights, representing most artistic lines, and a fine style of architecture.

NEW YEAR'S AND ITS WISHES.

From o'er the seas comes such an inspiring "New Year's Wish" that it might well be passed on to a wider audience:

"This wish for you: That past rough roads unheeded
You march ahead,
Undaunted, with the hope of trust begotten
To win life's bread:

To wear a smile even when tears be your portion,
With sighs unsaid.

To find fair blooms from last year's brown leaves springing
Upon your way:

To reap the worth of deeds gone by that left you
A bit more gray,

A bit more strong to live and love with others
From day to day.

In fruitful fields may Time think well to give you
A gentle part:

With love of home and friends to twine about you,
May this year start—

Blue skies above, and peace of God to guide you,
O faithful heart!"

Surely no New Year ever had a warmer welcome than that accorded to 1908. Oakland's "Mardi Gras" was a great success. A jolly crowd surged through the main streets, amid a shower of confetti—bands played on leading corners, though indeed the sweet strains could hardly be heard amid the great babel of voices, the union.

WILL SOON REACH OAKLAND.

Mrs. Rodgerick O'Connor, who was Gertrude Gould, is due to arrive in Oakland early this spring and will be the guest for some time of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gould, at their Linda Vista home. Doctor and Mrs. O'Connor have been at Fort McKinley in the Philippines and Mrs. O'Connor is planning to sail from Manila on the February transport.

The climate of the Philippines did not at all agree with Mrs. O'Connor and she has been very ill there, which is the cause of her return to California.

She will remain here until Dr. O'Connor's return to the States which may take place early in the summer.

TULLY'S BUY A RANCH.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walton Tully have bought a ranch in a very picturesque part of the Santa Cruz mountains, near Aloma. They intend to do all their writing in California hereafter, spending only about a month of each year in New York. They will also have a small apartment in San Francisco.

COUNTRY CLUB DANCE.

One of the largest and most interesting of all the New Year reunions was of course the dinner and dance at the Country Club, a notable feature of which was the presence of so many guests from across the bay.

The big dining-room was superbly decorated and was a most stunning color study in striking tones of holly-day red.

Gorgeous poinsettias were used with fine effect and there was a splendid arrangement of lovely California holly.

The ballroom was also a brilliant lance. It was set off with a long blue feather boa and a wide picture hat.

Among the many people present during the afternoon were Mr. J. K. Orr, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Prather, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Clay, Mr. and Mrs. de Fremery, Joseph Rosborough, George Sessions, Paul Miller, Lloyd Lacey, William de Fremery, Dwight Hutchinson, Paymaster Kutz, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Wright, Mr. and Mrs. William Pringle, Mr. and Mrs. Moritz von Lobensels, Miss Maude Howard, Miss Helen Shafter, Miss Nina Pringle, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dieckmann, the Misses Butters, Sydney Pringle, Ed Aiken, Chauncey Goodrich, Lawrence Ertz, Donald de Fremery, Elizabeth Goodrich, Mr. and Mrs. Braden.

RETURNING FROM TEXAS.

Many friends of Mrs. William Richardson of Austin, Tex., will be glad to hear that she expects to return to Oakland in June, and to spend the summer here with her father, Stephen Gage, and with her sisters, Mrs. J. Lorin Pease and Mrs. George Gross.

Mrs. Richardson was formerly Miss Bessie Gage, and she bids fair to be extensively entertained by friends of her girlhood days.

NEW HOMES ESTABLISHED.

Among the homes established here this winter is one which bids fair to mean much in a hospitable and also in a social way. Mrs. S. H. Michler is now comfortably settled in her home at 1361 Madison street, and she will have with her this winter her niece, Mrs. Louis Janin.

Both Miss Michler and Mrs. Janin are from the East, but they have old friends here, who rejoice that they have planned to establish a home in our midst.

It is sure to be a home on true lines representing refinement and culture, but better than all that, it promises to be a home in which real hospitality may be an abiding factor.

Mrs. Michler and Mrs. Janin will be at home to their friends on Tuesdays throughout the winter.

MISS PALMANTEER'S LUNCHEON.

Miss Carolyn Palmanter is to be the hostess at one of the largest luncheons of the early January days and she will entertain in honor of Miss Jessie Fox, whose bridegroom she will be at the latter's coming wedding. Cards were sent out this week to a number of friends of the hostess and of the bridegroom for a "buffet luncheon and thimble bee."

Carolyn Palmanter is a most delightful girl and she always entertains beautifully and there are such possibilities for a good time in a "buffet luncheon and thimble bee" that her young girl friends are looking forward with much pleasant anticipation to next Thursday's gathering.

LIMERICK THE LATEST.

And still the festive Limerick holds the center of the social stage in the East and in England, and literary people of ability surrender to its charm.

"A Limerick party" where the guests are given the first line only and make up the rest of the stanza, is said to give extremely amusing results.

The latest prize Limerick that is going the rounds of the East reads: "A suitor, whose hair was bright red, To the girl he had chosen once said:

"For you I would die."

She replied: "If you try,
Dye slowly but surely—that head."

MRS. TUCKER ILL IN NEW YORK.

Many of Mrs. J. C. Tucker's friends are exceedingly sorry to hear that she is still very ill in New York at the home of her sister, Mrs. Haskell. She was not able to take the long trip to California for the holidays, and Mrs. Edward Brayton is planning to go East in the near future.

Mrs. Tucker is so very dear to many relatives and friends, that they send her many wishes for a happy New Year and they hope that it may bring to her a return of her old-time health.

SCHILLING HOME OPEN AGAIN.

The Schillings have come home, and the old family home is again open and will bid fair to be the scene of the old-time hospitality which has made it part of Oakland's social history.

Miss Else Schilling is much improved in health, and the family has greatly enjoyed the year abroad.

Miss Alice Hoyt was in yellow messaline trimmed in lace.

YOUNG GIRLS AND SOCIETY.

"The financial stringency has put an enforced quiet on much that might be doing in a social way—except, of course, what everyone must do for brides elect. So the young girls on both sides of the bay have had time for something else than the purely social side of life this winter.

In fact social life does not develop "the butterfly existence for which it used to be credited. Just to amuse oneself is only one phase of existence and a very foolish phase at that.

Many well-known girls have thoroughly learned the art of keeping house for that is the best of all accomplishments. They are good house keepers in where one sees them at a tea or card game having the time of their lives. One would not suspect them of struggling with the family bills or with the family allowance.

They live on an allowance themselves and some of the brilliant girls of the smart set are living and very devoted daughters. It makes one very proud of the American girl when one sees what an affectionate and devoted daughter of the home she can be.

There are informal little sewing clubs all over the city and study clubs and the girls days are full of duties that they have never succeeded in doing. As a matter of fact these so-called clubs are far cleverer than is always Miss Katherine Brown, who has devoted many hours of each day to the impersonations said to study. When she was a very little girl she seemed to have seven lemons in her purse. The gross receipts of the girls in which she well as the through grammar school work in the East she passed the difficult examinations for Smith College one of the finest institutions for women on the Atlantic coast and has practically done much university work since.

Miss Pringle plays very well on the piano and many of her mornings are devoted to the study of music.

Miss Anita Thomson has studied French and she was a very little girl and she speaks it exceedingly well.

Miss Florence Henshaw is one of the young girls who has far to make an exceedingly interesting debutant and she is still practical in the schoolroom with lessons every morning. She speaks both French and German very fluently and has been educated along the fine lines.

Miss Edna Schilling is also a fine linguist and she has had the advantage of foreign travel in supplementing the usual lessons.

Among the girls who play exceedingly well and devote much time to music are Miss Ruth and Miss Rose Kales in Miss Katherine Kutz.

Miss Edna Frith has done some literary work of more than ordinary merit and among those who write exceedingly well are Miss Emma McNamee and Mrs. R. A. Troy.

Mrs. Mahony excels in journalistic work and Mrs. R. A. Troy has much originality and a bright bit of humor through and light shrivels work.

How much we all wish she would write a book!

Miss M. C. Coogan and Miss Christy Tate both sing beautifully and they are very sweet and droll about giving great pleasure to their friends.

Other music lovers who delight in Gladys are Mrs. George Jensen, Mrs. Carolyn Oliver and Mrs. Harry Aitken.

Mrs. Florence Hush is so very modest about her accomplishment that few people knew that she is one of the best pianists in the State. In she is also the one best daughter any large household could have.

Helen Horner has a great gift to music and her friends could listen to hours at a time. Indeed, so great was her gift of a day or two was parcelled, but among her friends. On that occasion as on this Mrs. Martin largest and most delightful will and Miss McKinstry were among her hostesses.

VISIT OF A NOTED STORY WRITER.

Mrs. Harrison Lewis (Margaret Cameron) one of the best known short story writers in the country whose contributions are eagerly snapped up by Harper's publications is making a brief visit to friends about the bay. With her husband Mrs. Lewis has been in the City of Mexico for several months and the pair are now on their way to their home in New York. Mrs. Lewis is a very clever and talented woman who talks as well as she writes—a combination quite unusual. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis arrived on Tuesday and went at once to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Smith whose house guests they are.

CHRISTMAS VAUDEVILLE.

A great effort is being made to induce the clever amateurs who filled the Chutes Theater in December for the benefit of the Children's Hospital to repeat their entertainment in Oakland also for a charitable purpose. The Children's Hospital benefited by the Chutes performance by more than $4,000 and people who can fill the remote and unattractive Chutes Theater can draw a crowd anywhere. Theatrical managers would like to know how to draw a crowd to the Chutes Theater. It is something that they have never succeeded in doing.

As a matter of fact these so-called clubs are far cleverer than is always Miss Katherine Brown, who has devoted many hours of each day to the impersonations said to study. When she was a very little girl she seemed to have seven lemons in her purse. The gross receipts of the girls in which she well as the through grammar school work in the East she passed the difficult examinations for Smith College one of the finest institutions for women on the Atlantic coast and has practically done much university work since.

Miss Pringle plays very well on the piano and many of her mornings are devoted to the study of music.

Miss Anita Thomson has studied French and she was a very little girl and she speaks it exceedingly well.

Miss Florence Henshaw is one of the young girls who has far to make an exceedingly interesting debutant and she is still practical in the schoolroom with lessons every morning. She speaks both French and German very fluently and has been educated along the fine lines.

Miss Edna Schilling is also a fine linguist and she has had the advantage of foreign travel in supplementing the usual lessons.

Among the girls who play exceedingly well and devote much time to music are Miss Ruth and Miss Rose Kales in Miss Katherine Kutz.

Miss Edna Frith has done some literary work of more than ordinary merit and among those who write exceedingly well are Miss Emma McNamee and Mrs. R. A. Troy.

Mrs. Mahony excels in journalistic work and Mrs. R. A. Troy has much originality and a bright bit of humor through and light shrivels work.

How much we all wish she would write a book!

Miss M. C. Coogan and Miss Christy Tate both sing beautifully and they are very sweet and droll about giving great pleasure to their friends.

Other music lovers who delight in Gladys are Mrs. George Jensen, Mrs. Carolyn Oliver and Mrs. Harry Aitken.

Mrs. Florence Hush is so very modest about her accomplishment that few people knew that she is one of the best pianists in the State. In she is also the one best daughter any large household could have.

Helen Horner has a great gift to music and her friends could listen to hours at a time. Indeed, so great was her gift of a day or two was par-

On Tuesday evening they were the guests of honor at a New Year's Eve party given by Mr. and Mrs. Smith. On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were guests of honor at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dugay at their interesting home. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Lewis came to Oakland where they will be the guests of the Hedges for a few days. Mrs. Lewis' mother has been in Oakland for some weeks where she has been visiting friends and awaiting the return of the Lewises from Mexico. They had planned to spend Christmas together in California but Manana was too much for their plans and they arrived some days after the festival season.

FEW LARGE NEW YEAR PARTIES.

The financial stringency perhaps showed itself in the small number of large New Year Eve or eggnog parties announced. Usually there are a number of large parties on this interesting night but this year there were but few private affairs though the various clubs arranged dances. There was a ball at the Burlingame Club and one at the Claremont Club and of course a number of dinners preceded the dancing. Nor were many open houses announced for New Year's Day.

OLD LETTER OF JOHN ADAMS THROWS LIGHT ON HISTORY

CHICAGO, Jan. 4.—Joseph F. Ward, president of the City National Bank of Evanston, received an unusual Christmas present in the form of the original manuscript of a letter written to his grandfather, Colonel Joseph Ward, by John Adams in 1800. The letter throws new light upon the attitude of Adams toward Alexander Hamilton and other leaders of his time. It follows in part:

"QUINCY, August 31, 1789.—Sir: The negotiations of the peace of 1783 are known in detail by nobody but myself, and as they have been misrepresented they will be more so hereafter if the truth is not told and supported by documents.

"The history of our country is getting full of falsehoods and it is high time for some of them to be corrected. Hamilton propagated a great many, some of which I am endeavoring to rectify or correct in justice. Have I had any success?

"If an excessive partiality for England too strongly resembling the sentiment of the Tories in 1770 can be abated and the final policy of dependence in the British fleet for protection be averted, it will be well worth the pains. In short, the final error of depending upon the wisdom, justice, or benevolence of any foreign nation for protection or assistance must be corrected or we shall be miserably deceived and betrayed."

Stepfather Comes From London to Ask Court to Declare Daughter Competent.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 4.—James W. Daniel, London barrister, and husband of the late Marie Coghill Hastings Daniel, is now in San Francisco for the purpose of having the court declare competent his stepdaughter, Elizabeth Parker Hastings, so that she may manage her income of $600 a month.

Miss Hastings is the granddaughter of the late Judge Serano C. Hastings, founder of the Hastings College of Law. Her income is derived from several inherited trust funds, at present under the control of J. M. Hoefer, her guardian.

Daniel arrived in San Francisco from London last Saturday with his wife, and immediately secured apartments at the Fairmont. He sought his lawyer, H. W. Bradley, at once, and the petition upon which an order was signed by Judge Graham of the Superior Court yesterday was presented. Judge Graham set the date for the hearing of the petition before himself January 10 at 10 o'clock.
